

THE STATE'S HEALTH.

MARCH REPORT OF THE STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

A Light Death Rate—Nothing in the Epidemic Line Anywhere in the State—The Smaller—Need of Vaccination.

The State Board of Health has issued its monthly circular, giving its statistics for March. In 69 towns and cities, with a total estimated population of 609,600, the total number of deaths was 889, distributed as follows: Consumption, 182; acute pneumonia, 77; acute bronchitis, 19; congestion of the lungs, 7; diarrhoea and dysentery, 4; cholera infantum, 1; other diseases of stomach and bowels, 37; diphtheria, 24; croup, 17; scarlet fever, 6; measles, 4; smallpox, 11; whooping-cough, 5; typho-malarial fevers, 2; typhoid fever, 14; remittent and intermittent fevers, 2; cerebro-spinal fever, 6; cancer, 28; erysipelas, 7; heart disease, 56; alcoholism, 11; other causes, 360. The report goes on to say:

REMARKS.

The mortality report for the month of March, reported from seventy-five towns and cities containing an estimated population of 609,600, was 889, at the rate of 1.3 per thousand, which indicates an absence of any general epidemic disease and a very low death rate. The meteorological conditions for March were not favorable to those suffering from diseases of the respiratory organs, hence we find an increase in deaths from—

Consumption, which was fatal to 182 persons, a very largely increased mortality over the usual average from this disease.

Pneumonia—The death rate from pneumonia also shows a slight increase over the preceding month, 77 deaths being attributed to it.

Bronchitis, on the contrary, was less fatal, having caused but 19 deaths. Congestion of the lungs was fatal in 7 instances. We may confidently look for a decreased mortality in all these diseases as the season advances.

Diphtheria continues to show a very gratifying decrease in its death rate, especially in San Francisco, where it was so prevalent. Only 24 deaths are reported from it in March, which is a decrease of 10 from last report, and 33 from the one previous. Fifteen deaths are reported in San Francisco, 2 in Oakland, 2 in Petaluma and 1 each in Sacramento, St. Helena, Nevada City, Los Angeles and Downey.

Croup, which may be classed for fatality with diphtheria, caused seventeen deaths, of which five occurred in San Francisco, five in Oakland, two in Los Angeles, two in Millville, one in San Diego, and one in Bilby.

Whooping-cough was fatal in five instances. Scarlet fever—The deaths from this disease were limited to five, which indicates the mildness of the disease which prevails.

Measles caused three deaths in Los Angeles, and one in Oakland. Smallpox—Eleven deaths have been reported in March, nine of which occurred in Los Angeles, and two in San Diego. No report has been received from the Health Officer in Pasadena, consequently we are unable to say if any further mortality occurred in that district. Three deaths are said to have occurred outside of Los Angeles, but have not been reported.

Typho-malarial fever caused two deaths.

Typhoid fever is reported as causing the mortality of fourteen, which is the smallest death record from this disease that has occurred in many months.

Remittent fever is credited with two deaths.

Cerebro-spinal fever is reported as having caused five deaths.

Erysipelas had a mortality of five, which is a slight increase from last report.

Alcoholism caused eleven deaths, which is an increase of six over those recorded in the preceding month.

The following towns report no deaths in March: Bodie, Colfax, Castroville, Cottonwood, Dixon, Igo, Knight's Ferry, Livermore, Mariposa, Truckee, Roseville, Sausalito, Truckee, Tehama, Willits and Williams.

PREVAILING DISEASES.

Reports received from ninety-two localities in different parts of the State enable us to note the absence of any epidemic disease marked by unusual mortality. Smallpox, although still threatening the southern portion of our State, has not yet assumed a positively epidemic form. The other zymotic diseases prevailing are noted for their generally benign type and limited extension.

Diarrhoea and dysentery have been noted as occurring with frequency in Fresno, Cottonwood, Napa, Castroville and Anderson.

Measles prevail in Santa Cruz, Los Gatos, Mojave, Los Angeles, Downey, Colton, San Diego, Fresno, Hanford, Anaheim, Redwood City, Davisville and Anderson.

Scarlet fever is prevalent in Amador, St. Helena, Fresno, Hanford, Anaheim, Downey, Roseville, Mariposa, Jolon, Ft. Bidwell, Stockton, San Francisco and Selma. The form of this disease is noticeable for its mildness.

Diphtheria, in a sporadic form, is at present in San Francisco, Oakland, Los Angeles, Downey, Nevada City, Petaluma, Sacramento, St. Helena, Salinas, Fresno, Merced, Anderson, Truckee, Millville and Napa. Dr. M. B. Pond, of Napa, writes that the cases there were of rather severe type, and believed to have been imported from San Francisco. Rigid isolation and perfect disinfection prevented its spread beyond its original boundaries. The Napa Board of Health have agreed to draft an ordinance compelling the exhibition of a distinctive flag to mark infected houses. This is a move in the right direction, and if all boards of health would follow this example, and warn people by a flag of the presence of this dangerous disease, it would be the means of saving many lives, and limiting the diffusion of the diphtheritic poison.

Whooping-cough is quite prevalent in San Francisco, Stockton, Vallejo, Anaheim, Wheatland, Davis, Dixon, Martinez, Williams, Merced and Sacramento.

Erysipelas is noticed in a sporadic form in Salinas, St. Helena, Fresno, Bakersfield, Amador, Sausalito, Igo, Biggs, Anderson, Cloverdale, Chico, Oakland and San Francisco.

Typhoid fever is noticed as being observed in a few instances in Merced, Santa Cruz, Anaheim, Downeyville and Amador City. None other of the reports mention the disorder, showing the very remarkable freedom that exists throughout the State from this commonly endemic disease.

Pneumonia is mentioned as prevailing to a greater or less extent in many places, especially in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Sacramento, Oakland, Stockton, Wheatland, Davis, Colfax, Cloverdale, Redwood, Lincoln, Biggs, Chico and Visalia.

Bronchitis, although prevailing extensively, is not of a very severe type. Influenza is very general, but the type is mild and not attended by any fatality.

Smallpox, we regret to say, has not yet been stamped out of the State. It prevails to a considerable extent in Los Angeles. During the month some fifty-six cases, as nearly as can be ascertained, occurred there, with nine deaths. There is no doubt new cases will develop from day to day, infected by those who, in their endeavor to conceal the disorder, scatter it broadcast. The thorough vaccination which has been attempted in Los Angeles will, it is hoped, keep the disease from becoming epidemic. In Downey some twenty cases, according to Dr. Brown, occurred; there were no deaths, as the disease was in the mild form. The smallpox also appeared in Lugos settlement, Pasadena, Vernon District, Bavena, Balona and other places in Los Angeles county. It also appeared in Ontario, San Bernardino county, and in San Diego. All these cases were imported from Los Angeles. The State Board of Health have taken every precaution possible to prevent the spread of the disease. Northward it has placed medical inspectors at San Diego, San Pedro, Mojave, Colton, Barstow and Indio, to board all trains and examine all passengers leaving Los Angeles or coming over the borders of the State. It has also requested the Federal Government to place medical inspectors on the Mexican frontier. The board is happy to announce that Surgeon-General Hamilton has acceded to its request and placed inspectors at Yuma, Nogales, Benicia and Albuquerque, with orders to inspect all passengers and baggage crossing the frontier. These precautions will be in vain if our people do not attend to the only preventive measure which is thoroughly reliable, and that is vaccination. We are not in the face of imminent danger, and if vaccination is not thoroughly performed throughout the State we know not where the disease may be conveyed and developed. Three cases have been imported from China into San Francisco. The authorities there, ever vigilant, had them at once placed in the smallpox hospital, and no danger from them is apprehended. However, we reiterate the necessity of general vaccination, for in it, and it alone, is there positive safety.

FOR COUNCIL.

First Warders Nominate Their Respective Candidates.

As already announced in THE TIMES, a special election will be held in the First Ward tomorrow to elect a Councilman to fill the unexpired term of W. T. Lambie, resigned. Caucuses were held in the Southern Hotel last evening to nominate candidates for the position.

The Republicans had a rousing and crowded meeting. E. M. Hamilton was chosen chairman and F. G. Randle secretary. E. A. Gibbs and F. G. Randle were respectively put in nomination for Councilman from the First Ward. The ballot resulted as follows: Total vote, 123; Randle, 57; Gibbs, 65. Mr. Gibbs was the unanimous nominee of the caucus. E. A. Gibbs is well known on the east side, where he is manager of the Schaller-Graham Lumber Company's interests.

The Democrats met in another room of the hotel, and nominated William Vickery, the East Los Angeles banker.

SILKWORMS.

Silk-ranching in the San Fernando Valley.

J. Wallen Smith has been studying up the subject of sericulture, and has now made his arrangements to go into the silkworm business on a large scale. He has planted twenty acres in the San Fernando Valley—near the Providence ranch—with young mulberry trees, and has just received his first consignment of eggs. A short time ago the telegraph noted the fact that the State Board of Silk Culture had received a large quantity of silkworm eggs of the most desirable description. Mr. Smith wrote at once for a supply, and they have arrived safely. The microscopic wriggles are already beginning to hatch from the seeds like eggs. Mr. Smith has plenty of orange for them to feed on until the mulberries wax big. There is little doubt that by devoting himself to the business, as he intends to do, Mr. Smith will make a success of sericulture in the most favorable climate in the world.

SETTLED AT LAST.

The Famous Nadeau Will Contest Compromised.

The famous Nadeau will case was settled yesterday on the following basis: George, Joseph, Mr. Bell and Mrs. Tilton, the children of Mr. Nadeau, are to receive $50,000 each, $100,000 to be paid at once and the other $100,000 later. Mrs. Nadeau agrees to wait thirty-three months for the mortgage to be paid on the Nadeau house property. The $50,000 to each of the brothers and sisters of Mr. Nadeau is to be paid. Then the residue of the estate is to be divided equally between Mrs. George A. White, Mrs. Cora E. Powell and Mr. F. M. Eggleston, the children of Mrs. Nadeau. The four children of Mr. Nadeau, in consideration of the $50,000 each, withdraw the contest and accept the amount in final settlement of all claims. The attorneys were Messrs. Houghton, Silent & Campbell for Mrs. Nadeau, and Messrs. Bicknell & White and Chapman & Hendricks for the contestants.

New Dummies.

Yesterday afternoon the two handsome new dummies, built in the shops of the Second-street cable road, were taken out and tested on the line with most satisfactory results. They are handsome, easy-riding and strong, and reflect credit on Master Mechanic E. H. Hutchinson, under whose supervision they were constructed.

Special Car Party.

Mrs. Biddle and a party of friends arrived in the special, palace car, "Isaac Walton," from Philadelphia yesterday, and after driving around Los Angeles, the party went out to Pasadena, where they will spend a few days among the orange groves.

REPRIMANDED.

FIREMEN KINNEY AND BARTHOLOMEW KEELHAULED.

For Their Spree with the Moore and Reyes Girls—A Repetition of Their Offense Will Cost Them Their Heads.

THE TIMES exclusively published the facts concerning the escapade of Miss Moore and Miss Reyes with the city's paid firemen, Ed Kinney and Louis Barthol. It was a sensational and sad case, and the worst facts were mercifully withheld. Chief Engineer Walter S. Moore, of the Los Angeles Fire Department, finding that two of his men had thus been leaving their duties, preferred charges against them before the Board of Fire Commissioners. The Commissioners met yesterday at Engine-house No. 1. THE TIMES is indebted to Secretary W. G. Worham for the following official minutes of the meeting:

Los Angeles, Cal., April 13, 1887. Board of Fire Commissioners met at 2:30 p.m. Present, Messrs. Workman, Breed and Kuhrt.

Chief Engineer Walter S. Moore preferred charges against the permanent men of Engine Company No. 1, viz., as follows: Against E. Kinney and L. Barthol for being absent from the engine-house without permission from the Chief Engineer; and against P. Meyer, for not reporting same to the Chief Engineer, in violation of Rules and Regulations Nos. 3 and 10 of Los Angeles City Fire Department.

P. Meyer, being sworn, says: Did not know their being absent during Monday night, April 12th.

He did not know they were absent at all. The men were in the engine-house when he went to bed Monday night, and were there at 6 o'clock the next (Tuesday) morning.

Ed Kinney, being sworn, says: Was away from the engine-house Monday night for about an hour and a half. Left about 10:15 that night, and got back between 11 and 12. Left a man in my place, Mr. Maxey. Was not out all night. Was not out any other night.

L. Barthol, being sworn, says: Left about 10:15 Monday night, and got back about 12 midnight. Had Mr. Mawson in my place. Was not absent any other night. Was only at meals with the girls twice. Was one of us at dinner Monday night, including the two girls. Had one small bottle of wine. The girls did not drink any wine. The girls boarded at the same restaurant with us.

Mr. Maxey, being sworn, says: I stayed here for them Monday evening about one hour and a half. They left about 10 p.m., and got back about 11:30 p.m. Did not say how long they stayed at dinner Monday night.

Mr. Barthol asked me to stay during his absence Monday night. Don't know of their being absent at any other time. Have been around the engine-house for the past two weeks.

On motion, Constable Ed Smith was sent for. Police headquarters reported him absent from the city, he being at Mojave.

It appearing that Mr. Meyer having no knowledge of the absence of the men, it was moved and carried that the charges against him be dismissed. The following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Whereas, Messrs. Barthol and Kinney were absent from the engine-house on Monday, April 12th, between the hours of 10 and 12 p.m., without the consent of the Chief Engineer or knowledge of the engineer in charge; and

Whereas, said absence is a violation of the rules of the fire department; therefore, be it

Resolved, that Messrs. Barthol and Kinney be reprimanded by the president of this board; and it is further

Resolved, that a repetition of this offense will be punished by dismissal from the department.

Messrs. Barthol and Kinney, being called before the board, were reprimanded by the president and the above resolutions read to them.

On motion adjourned.

People's Store.

Today our first special sale of parasols takes place. Our customers have sent us the largest invoice of these goods that have ever been received in Los Angeles. The reason we have bought so largely of them is that we got them at our own prices, and are selling them at prices which are really astonishing. For the past few days we have had a beautiful assortment of all shades and styles, with novelty handies, in our window, to show the ladies what we intend to do with them, and they will be on our counters today at $1.00 each, and are worth $1.50. In addition to this line we will offer fancy pongee, lace-trimmed, at $2.50, worth $4.50. Black satin, lined and lace-trimmed, at $3.00, worth $5.00. Children's sizes at $2.00, worth $3.00, and many other styles and prices too numerous to mention.

In our shoe department we will again surprise the public with our bargains, such as misses' grain, leather, solar-clip shoes, worked button shoes, extra quality for $1.50. Children's rubber goat button shoes, sizes 8 to 11½, for 85c. Children's curious kid shoes, with or without heels, extra quality for $1.50. In our hosiery department we have placed on the counters the largest, best selected assortment of ladies' ladies' striped goods ever seen in the country, for 25c. a pair. We would never get through writing about them if we attempted to do them justice in the papers, so we will simply say, call around and be convinced that they are the best value for 25c. ever shown over a counter.

Last evening we added to our already immense stock of novelties in the dress goods department some new effects in double-fold gray goods, which we have just received from the East. They are really very elegant. One line is a solid gray of different shades, with a pretty hair-line silk check through it. They will be sold at 75c., and the plain to match them, at 75c. They are 42 inches wide, $1.00, and would easily command from $1 to $1.25.

Another line, also 42 inches wide, in the newest shades of gray, beige, tan, etc., will be sold at 85c. a yard. We will not comment any further on these goods. Just come and look for yourselves. People's Store.

On account of the increased travel east, the Santa route has arranged for city Pullman cars on their through Kansas City trains. They are also now running their emigrant tourist sleeping car direct from Los Angeles to Kansas City direct.

SANTA ANA VALLEY.

PROSPERITY OF ITS TOWNS AND VILLAGES.

Westminster and Garden Grove—Tustin and Orange—The Newport District—New Land Company—Capt. West's Rancho.

SANTA ANA, April 12.—[Special Correspondence of THE TIMES.] My last letter from this place gave you the impressions created on one returning here after a year's absence, by wonderful transformation in that brief period. A few days spent in driving over this valley has only increased the wonder I experienced on noting the many improvements in the immediate vicinity of Santa Ana. Tracts of land, which a few months ago yielded bounteous crops to the farmer, have been cut up and sold in residence lots, and the suburbs of Santa Ana, with its large number of new houses, in all stages of construction, among which are some elegant residences which would do credit to any city, is not unlike some of the outlying districts of Los Angeles. It is not only the town of Santa Ana which has grown, but the whole valley has made rapid strides in the great march of progress which has been made by Southern California generally. Strange to say, that portion of the valley where lands are cheapest, and which contains excellent soil, with an abundance of water for irrigation, has not felt the boom as much as other localities where land is at high figures. With what is well known about the varied resources of the country adjacent to WESTMINSTER AND GARDEN GROVE, taking into consideration the moderate price of good land there—though considerable improvement is noticeable—it would seem as though new-comers would have sought out that section in larger numbers than they have. But booms seem to be capricious.

THE NEWPORT DISTRICT, at this season, looks particularly fine, and the people thereabouts are looking forward to the time when their harbor will be improved, and a railroad built to Santa Ana, only nine miles from the port. These improvements are within the possibilities of the near future.

TUSTIN AND ORANGE have felt the boom for some time, and notwithstanding the fact that you hear there of land bringing $500 and $1000 an acre (improved), the people of these places speak of the boom as coming. As a matter of fact, they are the champions. When buildings now going up in Orange are completed, it will present quite a business-like appearance.

The lumber is now being hauled on the ground, and work on the new hotel of the Tustin Land and Improvement Company in Tustin will soon begin. The officers of this company are: A. Guy Smith, president; S. W. Prebble, treasurer, and H. K. Snow, secretary. This hotel will be in the midst of orange trees in a beautiful location. It is to cost about $15,000 and to contain about sixty rooms.

A great temperance revival is being held in Santa Ana under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. Col. Woodford, the lecturer, has for a week been addressing large audiences, and the enthusiasm seems unbounded. Blue ribbons are conspicuous on many lapsels. The good work done last week induced the W. C. T. U. to prolong the revival a week longer.

Among the prominent new business houses in Santa Ana is noticed the Santa Ana Valley Land and Town Lot Company on Main street, near Fourth. The officers of this company are: J. N. Smith, president; Samuel Wilson, treasurer; W. F. X. Parker, secretary. This corporation owns and controls a large amount of valuable property, both town and country, in this valley, and, though it has been doing business but a short time, it already reports sales up in the thousands.

Among the important land sales which are being spoken of is that of Capt. John West's valuable place. It is a fine body of about 500 acres of land, handsomely improved, a little over one mile from the business center of Santa Ana, and fronting on the street that forms the western limits of the town. The western half of this rancho is divided into six different fields, separated by over six miles of hog-proof fencing, for the convenience of properly handling the fine stock raised on the place, among which are blooded horses, fine Jersey cattle, graded hogs, etc. Thirteen flowing artesian wells insures this property against possible droughts, and their location makes irrigation an easy task. There must be some dozen buildings on this place, not least of which is a great barn recently built, which is thought to be the largest private barn in the county. Among the other attractive things on Capt. West's place is an overshot wheel, which, with the power of a large flowing well near the residence, runs a churn, a feed-cutter, a washing-machine, and does other work. The lucky purchaser of this place, if the rumor be true, will acquire one of the best equipped places in this section. Four hundred acres of this land are planted to grain and alfalfa.

The election on the amendments to the Constitution was a very quiet one here. In fact, most people knew nothing of it until today. The total number of votes cast in Santa Ana was 91. Of these, it is understood that 59 were straight votes for the amendments. Of the remaining number, only 6 were against them, and 26 were scratched, but principally against the first and second amendments.

$400 REWARD.

A Premium on the Nervy County Jail-breaker.

Sheriff Kays yesterday flooded the county with posters offering $50 reward for each of the sixteen prisoners who escaped from the County Jail Tuesday night. Following is his description of each of the scoundrels:

BASE-BALL

The National Game to Boom at Santa Monica.

Santa Monica is to have an athletic park and base-ball grounds, similar to the one at Alameda. D. J. Tobin, one of the well-known sporting men on the coast, has leased grounds about 500 feet north of the Hotel Arcadia and will begin the erection of a grand stand and pavilion at once. Mr. Tobin has been connected with such places in San Francisco and Alameda for some years, and knows just exactly what the public wants. The pavilion will seat at least 2000 people, and will contain all of the latest conveniences. The manager, G. W. Crawford, has had a good deal of experience also, and is well known in this city. It is expected that the park will be opened by the 1st of May. Mr. Tobin goes to San Francisco today to engage the best base-ball nine he can get. He has already secured five good players, and will keep them at the park during the season. This will prove a good thing for Southern California sport-lovers.

DISCHARGED.

An Anti-vaccination Vixen Let Off Easily.

Martha M. Wilson, the Buena Vista-street female who was arrested for refusing to be vaccinated or to allow her children to be, was tried before Justice Austin yesterday. The Justice discharged her finally, not because she was not guilty as charged, but because of her condition and that of the family. He took occasion to tell her that she never need to have been arrested and made such a disgraceful spectacle as she did in this city. He had shown any sense or breeding toward the health officers. The conduct of both the woman and her husband, even in court, was enough to have given a couple of real places for the cumulative contempt. If the Justice had not been remarkably lenient.

POINTS OF THE MORNING'S NEWS.

The result of the election on constitutional amendments still in doubt. Loss of a packet steamer near Dieppe. Many arrests of conspirators in Russia. Annual meeting of the Southern Pacific Company's stockholders. Trouble between Great Britain and Venezuela. Officers elected by Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias, of California. Treasurer Jordan's movements. The Latter Day Saints' conference. Swamp land frauds in Oregon. Fears for the safety of the ship St. Stephen. Great fire at Chicago. Calene captured. Cracksmen at Sacramento. The Los Alamos ranch sale. Results of the San Diego municipal election. Pottsville (Pa.) iron-workers' strike ended. Contract let for three new buildings at the Insane Asylum at Agnew. Gov. Hill, of New York, vetoes his license. Fatal result of a prize-fight at Napa. G. W. Tyler on trial for felony at San Francisco. A Chinese slave case at Sacramento. A white child rescued from Chinese at San Francisco. Selden Hetzel missing. A historic church in Virginia burned. Baltimore and Ohio's dividends. The Panhandle thieves make a legal fight. Queenstown crowded with emigrants for the United States. Russia to issue another loan. Funeral of the late John T. Raymond. Chicago wins a game from St. Louis for the world's baseball championship. Copious rains in Texas and Colorado. Woman suffrage in Michigan and Pennsylvania.

The second day and evening of the Flower Festival was a brilliant success.

The Santa Barbara rose fair, which was to have opened on Tuesday, has been postponed for a week.

GEN. VANDEVER wrote his good name on the unique and handsome register of the Flower Festival at the Pavilion last night.

"WHAT writest thou?" the angel said. "I write my name in the Register of the Flower Festival Society at the Pavilion, price five cents and upwards," was the quick response. And lo! the name of the man that put up the largest amount in coin of the realm led all the rest.

The fate of the constitutional amendments is not yet known. The vote was so very light throughout the State that it will probably require the complete count to determine the result. It may even prove that the whole number of votes cast, for and against, will not be found equal to the constitutional number required in favor of the amendments in order to adopt them. There is a singular indifference among large numbers of electors to questions of great public concern, like those presented in these amendments, when no personal issues enter into the canvass. The average citizen too often stays away from the polls, unless he has undergone, for weeks before an election, a daily process of prodding, in order to force him up to the point of performing his public duty. Before anything like a full vote can be got out, the "whooping" business has to be pushed with vigor. It should not be so.

A MORNING PAPER, in an editorial about the proposed widening of First street, conveys an erroneous impression of the recommendation made by Mayor Workman to the Council, at its last meeting, touching that improvement. What the Mayor said was this: "I wish to call your attention to the importance of widening First street to an eighty-foot street, from Main street to Boyle avenue. This street is destined within a few months to become one of the principal business thoroughfares of the city. The location of the Union Depot of the Atchafson, Topeka and Santa Fe system of railways on the Bigelow property renders this widening absolutely necessary. I understand the railroad companies intend widening First street in front of their property to an eighty-foot street, and a number of property-owners on the east and west sides of the river have signified similar intentions."

The Mayor made no recommendation for the widening of First between Main and Fort. Such a change would not be feasible on a portion of the street permanently built up with good buildings.

Official Figures.

The tabulated March report of the State Board of Health—which is summarized in another column—furnishes some suggestive facts. The board has been fairly standing on its head about smallpox in Los Angeles, and hasn't recovered its feet yet, as the circular shows. Quarantines against Los Angeles have been established and various other silly things done. The board's own report, however, shows that during March there were only eleven deaths from smallpox in the whole State, nine being in Los Angeles and two in San Diego. On the other hand, there were in the State twenty-four deaths from diphtheria, of which fifteen were in San Francisco. The Bay City also had thirty-five deaths from acute pneumonia and nine from typhoid fever.

The smallpox scare which Los Angeles has endured was quite needless, but panics and panicky people are always unmanageable; they cannot be controlled any more than can the frightened and flying soldiers of a panic-stricken army, and there was nothing for us to do, when the late senseless fright took possession of a great many strangers and some citizens, but to let it run its course.

The actual result, as shown by the cases of and deaths from the dread pest, was so insignificant as to make the panic seem ridiculous. It has, as one of our eminent physicians remarked last evening, only served to show that Los Angeles can withstand a visitation of the smallpox without losing either much life or much prosperity. Nothing, in short, can stop her boom; and, gentlemen of the State Board of Health, of San Francisco, and of the anxious Northern Citizens Belt generally, "don't you forget it."

"Shall We Mark Time or March?"

Under this significant heading the Alta California recently printed one of its strong and notable editorials highly commending the letter written by Mr. Frank G. Newlands to the Bulletin favoring local improvements in San Francisco. "The letter," says the Alta, "thrills with the true spirit of progress and enterprise. It has behind it the force of one of our largest taxpayers, upon whose real estate will fall nearly the heaviest charge to be borne by any single property, if the policy he gives in such crystal detail is accomplished. He advises, practically, the release of four or five millions of capital within three years, to be spent almost entirely in labor and material to bring public and private enterprise abreast of each other in San Francisco. It is an appeal to the pride, the good taste, the thrift and humanity of our people that should fire them with the same spirit which pervades it. Its analysis of the situation and foretelling of results are something more than masterly in grasp—they have behind them the power of truth."

The whole article is so excellent, and so pertinent, in many of its applications, to the case of Los Angeles, that we quote its essential portions:

The perfecting of our sewers; the smooth paving of our streets; the building of noble boulevards; the provision of resorts that shall take children out of the level of crime and disorder, the street; the founding of our schools upon a Kindergarten system that will so immeasurably ease the responsibilities of the poor and make the very beginning of life the beginning of good citizenship—these are objects which unite all good men and turn even politics into statesmanship and convert parties into the agents of enlightened benevolence.

Mr. Newlands will not stop with theory. He lists the practical difficulties in the way and suggests their solution. He directs public thought along a line by which it must reach a consensus and unite for common objects so desirable that once possessed they will be displayed as our civic jewels.

The thoughtful citizen sees in Mr. Newlands' proposition the legitimate purposes of government. A city is endowed with public authority in order that it may take up this line of activities which it drops from the hands of the individual, and the better it is misused when it rests content with policing our doors and furnishing a pretext for the energy of base politics. A city is for a higher purpose than providing offices and salaries for such as can walk over the hot plumes to victory in the ordeal of a campaign. Within that higher purpose lie the subjects to which Mr. Newlands calls attention, and who shall say that the accomplishment of them all is not within reach—and easy reach—if we put aside distrust of each other and enter upon a noble rivalry to see which shall put the stoutest impulse into the city?

We must do this—we must make San Francisco what the metropolis of the greatest of commonwealths should be, or we must content ourselves to remain as we are—to patch and stich, to tap and bleed, to tattered garments and sandals and degenerate at last to a secondary place. For be it known that in this climate and scenery and salubrity for the generation of the future and the surroundings which form the enchanting picture of Mr. Newlands' exalted vision. We may make it here, or we may falter with our opportunity until the city of the Caesars is built elsewhere.

It should be here. We have hundreds of millions of concentrated wealth. The monuments to individual taste and enterprise are all around us. Our private mansions display interiors which contest the palm with Venetian art, and the expenditures of our rich far surpass the limits of self-indulgence, and go to generosity in behalf of the poor, the orphaned, the infant and the ill; but lavish as they may be, they cannot assume responsibility for these public improvements, which are for the benefit of all and will pay the largest dividend to those who invest the least in the taxes that shall support them. We have half a hear of a large taxpayer who is not anxious to have these improvements, and yet the large taxpayers have the world before them from which to make selection of schools for their children, recuperation for their health and ministry to their tastes and pleasures. But they propose to put health, schools, pleasures and profit within reach of others who cannot go elsewhere to find them, and must enjoy them or suffer their lack here. Therefore we say that those who, by reason of narrow fortune or non-ownership of property, will contribute the least to the capital stock of this splendid enterprise, will draw out the most in dividends.

A million a year for a few years in such improvements means, also, constant wages for labor and the chances for many hundreds of wage-workers to have their cottages. The tinpall brigade will do itself the justice to fall in under the leadership of this far-sighted capitalist, and vote, if the ballot be needed, to make of San Francisco

A City Beautiful and in the process secure home for themselves.

The needs of San Francisco are well and gracefully stated by our brilliant contemporary. The intelligent and thoughtful Los Angeles reader will make his own application of the truths here uttered. They come home to us in great measure. Our opportunity is here, and it is a great one. We are forging ahead in all departments of private business, development and enterprise. Our people are growing rich. The city is advancing in population, in wealth, and in the number and value of its buildings, public and private. But private enterprise outstrips public improvement, which does not keep pace with the needs of the time. The essential task of opening, grading and improving streets, of building bridges, sewers, culverts and sidewalks, laying water mains, and executing other works of a public nature, is not performed with that degree of promptness, energy and thoroughness which characterize the progress of private improvement. Our private buildings "march," while the city authorities too often "mark time." Let them step off with a thirty-three-inch step and the swinging gait of veteran marchers!

We have an enlightened, progressive and decisive Mayor, and a business-like and intelligent Council. They know the needs of the city, and we believe they can relieve them by prompt and practical legislation which it is in their power legally to enact. They should act, not hastily or without plan or system, but systematically and energetically, and the people should sustain them in all wise and essential measures for the city's improvement and the general good. We believe our population is one that will so sustain the municipal authorities.

Let municipal improvements go on upon a comprehensive plan—and commensurate with the needs of this young and lusty city, which is surely destined to become a great metropolis, the crown and jewel of the imperial and opulent South, whose grand future no Alta can foretell.

When a New York reporter visited Sarah Bernhardt the other day, he noted among other things of interest the following:

"Her slippers were drawn on over stockings of bronze-colored silk dotted with stars of gold. A 6-month-old tiger cat or young jaguar leaped into her lap as she sat down. Its fur, was brilliantly spotted and its lustre gleamed at the company, and she tamed it herself. She toyed with it all the time she talked, never heeding its growl. He, arms are scarred where it has driven its sharp claws into her flesh. It is getting wilder every day, and in six months it will have to be caged and given up to a pet." Sarah herself is considerable of a circus.

"The Southern Citrus Belt—A Windstorm Wrecks a Two-story House in Los Angeles," is the Sacramento Bee's heading to a strained and sensational dispatch from here about the gentle zephyr which floated through the sunny South last Sunday. The lurid language of the dispatch is of the style following:

"Though there were two fires in the house, it was not set fire to. A curious fact was that all the furniture was broken, except a large mirror and a dish of sponge-cake. It was a marvelous escape for the inmates, as the house was wrecked completely."

The Hyperborean Citrus Waist-Belt is very, very hard up for points against Los Angeles, the epidemic-proof metropolis of the peerless South, and the "dandiest" town on the western shore.

The State Board of Fish Commissioners have decided that they will hold future meetings in San Francisco. The members of the board are: J. Routier, of Sacramento; T. J. Sherwood, of Marysville, and J. Downey Harvey, of Los Angeles. The capital of the State is the proper place for all public meetings to be held—in fact it is the only place where they should be held. That Messrs. Routier and Sherwood should assent to such a proposition is somewhat surprising. Nothing that comes from a Los Angeles man, however, should surprise anybody. It is a wonder that he did not prevail upon the board to hold its meetings in Los Angeles—Sacramento Bee.

It is, indeed. And a very good thing the commission would have done had it decided to come to Los Angeles to fish. Here is where the gamiest of the tribe most do congregate, and suckers had best keep away.

AMUSEMENTS.

GRAND OPERA-HOUSE.—The Wages of Sin is evidently written, as its title would imply, to point a moral, and to appeal to the spectators' sympathies on behalf of much-wronged female innocence which has been subjected to the fiery trials of adversity, and the persecutions of a brute of a husband. To give the piece a stronger moral tone, the hero is made a curate, and it must be admitted that Edgar L. Ravenport personates the character with becoming dignity and sufficient force. J. R. Griesmer is out of his element as a villain. The piece is constructed for the purpose of giving the character of "Ruth Hope" the central position. Phoebe Davies is amply capable of doing full justice to the difficulties of the part, and she succeeded last night in raising the enthusiasm of the audience to a great pitch. In the impassioned scenes of the drama she exhibits a wonderful amount of magnetic power of declamation; her action is always appropriate, and shows the freedom and ease born of good training and assiduous practice. That these good qualities should be found combined in so small a physical compass is both surprising and delightful. How those deep full tones are produced is a mystery, but there is no doubt of their effect upon the listeners; the stress was recalled after each act, and the audience was sent home with a good, wholesome, moral lesson duly implanted in their minds, to the effect that one may marry in haste and repent at leisure.

The comic characters by Miss Loyola O'Connor and Mrs. Stevens were well sustained. The house was very fairly well filled.

THE NATIONAL OPERA COMPANY.—Quite an active canvass was made yesterday by Martin Lehman to get subscriptions to secure the coming here of this large company, next month. Mr. Lehman reports gratifying success so far as he has gone, and it is to be hoped that our citizens will not lose the opportunity of listening to the wonderful harmonies which so well-trained an orchestra as that of Theodore Thomas is capable of producing. The celebrated leader will have sixty instrumentalists responsive to his baton, and their performance alone is worth going miles to hear.

In addition there is a chorus of 100 voices, not to mention a number of leading singers of note.

Another feature is the ballet of ninety-two dancers, which will be the means of introducing for the first time in this country some of those wonderful pantomimic stories in Terpsichorean measure which have been so celebrated in the opera-houses of the large capitals of Europe.

The whole organization is on a scale of grandeur never before attempted in this country, and would seem that Los Angeles should not be behind the times in supporting such an enterprise.

Lawyer Tyler on Trial for Felony at San Francisco—Sacramento's Minister Land Register—The Southern Pacific Company's Annual Election—Notes.

By Telegram to The Times.

SEATTLE (Wash.), April 13.—[By the Associated Press.] Ever since the storm off the coast of Vancouver Island on April 1st, during which the bark Eldorado foundered and the schooner Champion was wrecked at Barclay Sound, much apprehension has been felt for the safety of the ship St. Stephen. Capt. Douglas, which left Seattle with 500 tons of coal on March 31st, and was let go by the tug Mogul off Cape Flattery at 11 p.m. She was then in company with the Eldorado, bound out. The fears of her loss have been generally increased by the late developments, which leave little doubt that she foundered at sea, with all on board.

SAW HER FOUNDER.

Capt. McNeil, of the bark Enoch Talbot, now in this port, says: "About 10 a.m. April 1st, during a terrible storm, I saw a three-sky-sail-yacht about 500 yards from us with a heavy list to leeward. Apparently her cargo had shifted. I was too busy looking out for my own vessel to pay much attention to anything else. I thought it was the Ivanhoe or the St. Stephen. Soon after this five of my men who had been aloft came aft and said they had seen the ship go down, and wanted me to offer assistance, but being next door to distress ourselves we could do nothing at that time. We were then ten miles south of Cape Beale. Fifteen minutes later the weather cleared up and there was no vessel in sight except a schooner. My men are positive that they saw the vessel sink beneath the waves. I have written this statement to my owners in San Francisco. I am morally certain that the vessel I allude to is lost, but whether it is the St. Stephen or not, I cannot say. She was the only three-sky-sail-yacht ship except the Ivanhoe in these parts at that time."

Capt. Douglas had his wife and daughter with him. The ship carried a crew of sixteen souls.

MAY STILL BE SAFE.

VICTORIA (B. C.), April 13.—[It is stated here that the St. Stephen has not foundered. The report arose from the fact that the ship Ivanhoe, recently arrived at Port Townsend, was seen to be thrown on her beam-ends by the shifting of her ballast in a squall. She was taken for the St. Stephen, and not being seen again by the men, they reported that the latter had foundered. This gave rise to the report.]

SAN FRANCISCO.

Lawyer Tyler Figures as Defendant in a Felony Trial.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—[By the Associated Press.] The trial of George W. Tyler, on an indictment of felony, was begun today, before Judge Hunt and a jury. ### A COMMON CASE.

A Chinese Slave Struggling for Freedom in a Free State.

SACRAMENTO, April 13.—[By the Associated Press.] Ling Ting, a Chinawoman, who has been kept in bondage in a house of prostitution, escaped some time since to San Francisco and entered the Methodist Mission. Her owner had her arrested and brought back here to answer to a charge of theft. No one believes that she committed the theft, but the Chinese testimony is sufficient to convict her and let her owner again get possession of her. The matron of the Mission and many Christian people of Sacramento are interesting themselves in behalf of this unfortunate human being. The case came up in a justice's court today and was continued.

The Gang Said to Comprise Nearly all the Road's Employees.

Funeral of John T. Raymond, the Actor, at New York.

Non-polygamous Ladies Say Senate Prohibit the Fall of the Utah Church—Large Fire at Chicago—Chicago Wins a Game From St. Louis.

By Telegram to The Times.

PITTSBURGH (Pa.), April 13.—[By the Associated Press.] John Nimms, Chief of the Brotherhood of Brakemen on the Panhandle road, states that he has been employed on that road for the past four months. During that time he has never seen anything crooked among the employees. The brotherhood, he said, will employ counsel to defend the prisoners, and, if possible, establish their innocence. If proofs were shown of their guilt, however, the brotherhood would assist in their conviction. It was also agreed to proceed against the company for damages if the charges against the many men under arrest are not sustained.

The United States authorities have decided to proceed against the plunderers for breaking into bonded government cars. The Pennsylvania Company announced today that five days would be given people having in their possession goods stolen from trains in which to return the same. No questions will be asked, and no further investigation will follow if the goods are returned.

The accounts of the railroad thieves are resorting to threats to intimidate the Panhandle Railroad officials. Two more arrests were made shortly after midnight. John Barth and John Smith, brakemen, supposed to be implicated in the robberies, were surprised at their homes. Barth was discharged from the Panhandle a short time ago, and has since been working on the Baltimore and Ohio.

Evidence is continually accumulating that the population on the Panhandle Railroad will be much larger than is reported by officials and others, who are, perhaps, interested in placing the losses at the lowest figures. Barth has been stated by parties in the detective bureau of this city that the stolen goods stored in the rear of Gilkinson's private office contain $100,000 worth of valuables. Further evidence of the magnitude of the theft is contained in the statements of John Hampton, who has been attending to the legal end of the case. He says that if the officials of the Panhandle road desired to arrest all employees of the road who are directly or indirectly concerned in the robberies, it would have been necessary to stop the operation of the road.

Trist Attorney General stated that there were at least 100 informations, containing, on an average, three persons each.

WORK OF THE FLAMES.

Large Fire at Chicago—Two Firemen Killed.

CHICAGO, April 13.—[By the Associated Press.] John J. McGrath's wallpaper house, at 106 to 112 Wabash avenue, a five-story, marble front building, was burned early this morning. The stock is a total loss, and the building is irreparably injured. A pipe-man, Michael Burns, was standing in a fourth-story window, when a sheet of flame came out, enveloping him, when he fell into the burning mass below. Lieut. John Heberle was climbing a ladder to the second story, when it slipped, and he fell to the sidewalk, crushing his skull. Capt. Fred Reese had his leg broken by a falling stone. The fire was discovered at 3:28 a.m., and when the firemen arrived it was in the center of the building, but before the hose could be used the flames had jumped from the story above to the one below, and seized quickly upon every inflammable stuff with which the floors were loaded. A second and third alarm was turned in. Chut fire engines were soon working upon the fire. The firemen said they had never before seen so rapid and complete destruction of a large establishment. The fire was put out at 5 o'clock. Owing to the exertions of the firemen, very little, if any, damage was done to the adjoining buildings. The loss is supposed to be about $400,000 on the stock, with an insurance of $600,000. The loss is $400,000 on the building, and fully covered by insurance.

LAI'D TO REST.

Funeral of John T. Raymond at New York.

NEW YORK, April 13.—[By the Associated Press.] When only a few weeks ago the funeral of Samuel Colville, late manager of the Fourteenth-street Theater took place at the little Church Around the Corner, John T. Raymond, standing in the churchyard, said to his friend Fred Maeder, the playwright: "Well, Maeder, I guess I'll be the next." Today his own funeral was held at the same church. The attendance was enormous, both of professionals and outsiders and immediate friends. The plain black cloth-covered coffin was almost hidden from sight by a heap of floral designs. By telegraphic instructions from Mrs. Langtry, at Richmond, a large wreath was presented in her name. "For Papa," a pretty little design, was from his only surviving child, a little daughter. The service at the church began at 10:30. Rev. Dr. Houghton read the burial service of the Episcopal Church. There was no sermon. Upon the conclusion of the ceremonies the remains were taken to Greenwood Cemetery and placed in a receiving vault.

LATTER DAY SAINTS.

Non-polygamous Apostles Ordained at the Conference.

CLEVELAND (O.), April 13.—[By the Associated Press.] At last night's session of the Latter Day Saints' conference at Kirtland, Elder R. M. Elvin, of Nebraska City, preached about the second coming of Christ. This morning there was the usual testimony meeting, which was followed by the ordination of apostles. In the course of the exercises, which were very impressive, Elder W. W. Blair, of Iowa, spoke of what he referred to as the "great apostasy which lives in the West." He asserted that the Utah church would be destroyed, and said that he now saw signs of its breaking up. The four apostles appointed are Joseph Luff, of Independence; C. A. Griffiths, of Kirtland; O. James W. Gillen, of Lamore, Iowa; and Herman Smith, of California.

It is thought now that Jordan's successor as Treasurer will not be appointed until after his return to Washington early in May.

By Telegram to The Times.

ST. LOUIS, April 13.—[By the Associated Press.] Advice from different sections of Texas note the fall of copious rains for 300 miles along the Texas and Pacific Railroad west of Merkel, and in the country north of that road. This is regarded as a great boon to farmers living in the drouth district, and would hundreds of thousands of dollars to the country. In many places in Texas rain has not fallen for nearly a year.

SAN ANGELO (Tex.), April 13.—The drouth which has prevailed for so long a time in Western Texas is at last broken.

Telegraphic advices from distant points show that the rain was one of the most general storms that have fallen here in years. The confidence of farmers and stockmen is fully restored.

The small amount of snow which fell in Colorado last winter did not moisten the ground sufficiently to start the grass this spring, consequently stock has been suffering considerably during the past few months because of a scarcity of grass and water. The present rain is worth thousands to farmers and ranchmen.

BUSINESS.

OFFICE OF THE TIMES.
LOS ANGELES, Wednesday, April 13.
There were no changes in quotations at the Produce Exchange today.

A recent circular of Hecht Bros. & Co., of Boston, has the following on Wool:
"There is very little change in the price of the wool market. The demand has continued light and the tone of the market is still dull and unsatisfactory. The transactions of all kinds for the week have been 1,077,000 lbs. There is now no immediate prospect of a change from the general lethargy which prevails. Movements of wools are still of moderate proportions for the season, and since this influence manufacturers are not disposed to stock up with the raw material. We see no chance, therefore, for an immediate improvement in Wool, but at the same time we are not inclined to think prices are likely to go much lower. The course of operations for some weeks past goes to show that buyers are pursuing methods of marked conservatism, and they are likely to continue these methods as long as goods remain in their unsatisfactory state. The new clip of the country will be available before many weeks are past, and in the face of these conditions, higher prices for what is left of the old clip are out of the question. The movement of the new clip as yet has been very small. The sales of unwashed Wool include 434,500 lbs Territory, 60,000 lbs Oregon, 30,000 lbs spring California, 15,000 lbs fall California, and 46,000 lbs Western unwashed and unmerchantable fleeces—in all 540,000 lbs. In Oregon Wool there has been a quiet trade. Choice Eastern will not sell at over $22, and it is difficult to get that price for it. Most of the sales are at $20 to $21, for choice, down to 16c for ordinary. California Wool has continued very dull, and prices are nominal. Very little spring Wool here, but at the same time there is no call for it. We do not change our quotations, but outside rates can not be obtained in any case; 25c for California Wool is certainly an extreme price, when Michigan is selling at 30c, 35c. A small sale of fall Wool is noticed at $17.5c, 35c."

Stocks and Bonds.

By Telegraph to The Times.
New York, April 13.—Money on call, easy; 30-day bill, 4 1/2%; 60-day bill, 4 1/2%; 90-day bill, 4 1/2%; Government bonds were dull but steady.
Foreign operations, not setting any response from this market to their efforts to advance prices, changed from this morning and were free sellers of stocks purchased in the last few days. The market showed weakness ranging up to 1/2 percent in Louisville and Nashville, and further fractional losses were sustained in many other lines. The entire market rallied quickly, however, under the lead of Western Union and Wheeling and Lake Erie, and the closing was generally maintained, after which the market became comparatively quiet and steady. In the afternoon the entire list declined under persistent hammering, and with the exception of one slight rally, the weakness continued until 3 p.m., when the lowest prices of the day were reached. There was a slight rally in the last hour, and the close was moderately active and steady.

THE INQUEST

ON THE BODY OF THE IL-
FATED MRS. E. A. COX.The Jury Finds the Railway Company Criminally Careless in Having No Guard at the Crossing—
The Employees Exonerated.

The jury called last evening to consider the death of Mrs. Cox, on Tuesday afternoon, convened pursuant to adjournment at 5 o'clock, and proceeded to hear further evidence in the case. The evidence of Mr. Cox was given in full in yesterday morning's Times, and that of officer J. M. Methvin, given at the inquest, was substantially as published. The following gives the substance of the testimony of other witnesses:

R. C. HOLMES.
sworn: I was at the depot. I saw the horse and phaeton with the people drive up to the crossing, and the train was backing down at the same time. It caught the carriage on the track and overturned it. They were out of my sight after that. I jumped from the back and ran down to the end of the train, and the gentleman of the party had just risen to his feet. Then I helped pull Miss Winstanley out of the wheels. Then I found that the young man I had left on the back was there, and I went back to look after the team. There was no one on the back end of the train. The cars came down very rapidly and silently—better than five miles an hour. I did not see any one on the platform pulling the bell-rope. There was not a trainman in sight. The police officer was nearer the depot than to the road. The train usually backs down and stops. This time it went right across. The cars could not be easily seen by persons driving on the road, as the depot obstructs the view, and there was a line of high backs out to the road that would do the same.

A. J. HALL.
sworn: I was standing on the west end of the bridge, about opposite the north end of the depot. The train came slowly backing down with no signals. I supposed it would stop before reaching the crossing. I heard a startled cry, and looking toward the rear of the train, I saw the horse and about the hand of the driver plying the whip, I guess; then heard the crash of the carriage and saw the flying pieces. I passed to the rear, saw the mangled form of a woman and heard their groans. I went back to the depot with other parties to procure water, and, passing back, I saw first the lady brought out that was not killed, and, later, the body of the lady that was killed. The custom of the train was to have stopped before crossing the road. I am familiar with the train, having traveled on it some fifteen times in the last thirty days, and, knowing as I do, I should have done the same as that man did in trying to cross the track. I don't recollect seeing or hearing any one warning, though there was something caused me to look that way. I did not notice any one on the rear platform. There was no bell ringing. Some one called "Look out!" but no one in the employ of the road, as I thought. The cars were moving very slow.

D. M. TRUE.
sworn: I was standing on the east side of the track; I think about two car-lengths or so from the end of the bridge. I saw the train slowly backing down at the speed of two or three miles an hour; and just as the end of the train reached the bridge I saw a horse moving; it seemed to me in a trot. He moved until I saw the full shape of the horse, and the car then struck the vehicle, and about the time the car struck I saw the motion of the lines raising and a portion of the shoulder of a man. The car then crushed the vehicle and occupants, and moved them along about twenty-five feet. As the train was moving down, and just about the time it struck the vehicle, I turned toward the engine to see if I could see the engineer, and, as he came in sight, I motioned to him and shouted, "Look out! Stop!" He immediately shut off steam, reversed his engine and pulled ahead. At the same time I thought I distinguished the motion of the bell-cord, as though some one was giving a signal, but I did not hear the bell strike on the engine, though it might have struck. As soon as the train pulled ahead I went to the rear, and saw the two ladies and the gentleman lying there apparently in a heap together. The gentleman raised up about half-way on his arm, and said, "Send for the doctor." I went into the telephone office, and asked them to telephone for a doctor, as one was killed. Then went back again, and saw them putting the wounded lady in a hack, and the one that was killed into the waiting-room. The first time that I passed the train I saw a brakeman on the rear platform. I don't know whether the brakeman was on the rear platform when the train backed down. I did not notice. I was not in a position to see whether any warning signals were given on the other side. The train was about five or six car-lengths from the bridge when it started to back down. He was backing to get clear of the switch. The engineer could not see signals from the rear end of the train, as the view was shut off.

OFFICER METHVIN.
sworn: His testimony is about the same as published yesterday morning.

WRIGHT BALDWIN.
sworn: I am an engineer in the employ of Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Company. I had charge of this train No. 17 on April 12th. The train stood on a side-track, and I was late some twenty-four minutes. I got orders to back up. In order to do so we had to back down past the depot. Before we got out on the main track I got a signal to stop—about the same time—from the bell in the cab and from the fireman. I was looking back all the time, but the outside of the curve was on my side, and I could not see the back end of the train. The yardman ordered me to back down. I did not see any buggy. There is generally a brakeman or yardman at the back end of the train when we are backing down. I expected my train would run over the roadway before I could clear the switch. I did not know when I stopped whether the last car was across the road or not.

THOMAS CARTER.
sworn: I am the fireman on the engine with Mr. Baldwin, and was with him yesterday. We started to get on main track. I rung the bell. As we were backing down we got a signal from a brakeman to stop. He was standing in the baggage-car door. I am sure rung the bell.

WILLIAM KEPLINGER.
being sworn said: I am a switchman in the Los Angeles and San Gabriel Valley Railroad yard. I make up the trains in the yard. When they started to back down I walked along ahead—that is in front of the rear coach. I walked along down to the depot to motion passengers off the track. When opposite the depot I got on the rear platform of the rear coach. As I stepped up I saw the horse's head coming. I pulled the bell-cord and set the brake, and shouted to the man in the buggy to stop. The car was not over six feet from the buggy when I gave the signal to stop. The baggage-master always keeps people off the track. I suppose voluntarily. I don't know that he is paid for it. He was there at the side of the train yesterday. The bell was ringing all the time.

PETER SMITH.
sworn: Am a bus-driver. I was down there to meet the 5 o'clock train, when this buggy came along. I noticed them particularly. After they had passed me I heard a screech, and looking half around saw the woman slap the horse with the lines. That was while they were on this side of the track. The horse went ahead and the car struck the buggy. I did not notice any one on the rear end of the train, nor hear any bell. If any bell had been ringing I would have heard it, for I was not talking to any one.

The testimony of Dr. G. S. Allen, James Morley, Mart Johnson and Thomas Elston was about the same as that of Messrs. True, Hall and Holmes, given above. After some deliberation, about 11 o'clock p.m. the jury brought in the following verdict:

VERDICT:
"We, the jurors, summoned to appear before the Acting Coroner of Los Angeles county at the undertaking-rooms of Orr & Sutch, on the 12th day of April, 1887, to inquire into the cause of the death of Louise E. Cox, having been duly sworn according to law, and having made such inspection, after inspecting the body and hearing the testimony adduced, upon our oaths each and all do say that we find that the deceased was named Louise E. Cox, a female, married, a native of Canada, aged about 34 years, and that she came to her death on the 12th day of April, 1887, by being crushed under a moving train of the Los Angeles and San Gabriel Valley Railroad, and as, in our opinion, the said company did not exercise the necessary precautions to prevent accidents, we hold that the said company are criminally responsible for the death of the said Louise E. Cox, and in our opinion the employees of said company are exonerated; and would most respectfully urge upon our City Council the necessity of enforcing such measures as will hereafter preclude the possibility of such accidents; all of which we duly certify, by this inquisition, in writing, by us signed, this 13th day of April, 1887.
Signed: Matt Carr, T. Ham, Robert Roswell, Simon Maier, A. S. McDonald, George Baker, P. E. Gray, W. T. Huston, J. Bobenrieth, L. Emery, T. A. Gardner, D. Wagner, foreman; B. Taney, Acting Coroner.

"THERMALITO," in the Northern Citrus Belt at Oroville, Butte County, Cal., at the old mining town of Oroville, seventy-eight miles north of Sacramento.

In offering this beautiful town we have made prices that are sure to advance 50 to 100 per cent. inside of thirty days.

THERMALITO is like a city set upon the hills. It cannot be hid; it overlooks the most picturesque and charming landscapes in the world; the peaks are covered with lofty pines and the scenery is grand.

The soil is exceedingly fertile, the water marvellously clear and pure and piped all through the tract.

Giant live and white oaks scattered over the slope exceed in beauty the famed English oaks. Beautiful orchards of apricots, peaches, prunes, oranges, lemons and olives cover miles of the adjacent country. The whole picture is a scene of loveliness unsurpassed in California.

THERMALITO will be only ten minutes' drive from Oroville; the mining town is deeply interested in its welfare, and it is believed that Thermalito will be the great fruit packing and shipping depot of this fertile region, embracing thousands of acres of the finest fruit land on earth.

The tract is subdivided most liberally, the majority of the lots being 50 feet front and 150 to 250 feet deep, and also two, five and ten-acre lots.

The streets are graded. A railroad will be built immediately, connecting at Biggs or Gridley, and there a connection will be made with the great California and Oregon and semi-monthly excursions will be run from Los Angeles and way stations to Thermalito.

For terms and particulars apply to RALPH ROGERS, 134 North Main Street, Los Angeles, or ROGERS & CO., Oroville, Butte county, Cal.
